

Ultrasound For Nurses and Techs

Ultrasound is a complex discipline in Ophthalmology. This course seeks to demystify the techniques associated with it.

Warren Howell and Emma Deighan co-tutor on this interactive 30 day program. With a combined 40 years experience with Ophthalmology diagnostics, they will ensure all your questions are answered and that you feel comfortable with all aspects of Ophthalmology ultrasound. Covered on the course are A & B Scanning plus the use of UBM systems. Understand how to optimize your ultrasound scanning equipment in order to obtain high quality diagnostic images, thus improving patient treatment and outcomes.

Interactive Forum

Using Zoom video conferencing you can take an active part in the course, asking questions as you learn. It feels like we are all together in a classroom.

Structure

Each module includes a live video course which is backed up with notes, plus a copy of the presentation files.

The video classes will take about 30 minutes, but we are flexible so can adapt to your needs. If you want to go over something again, we can.

Tutor

Emma Deighan and Warren Howell will teach this course. Between them they have a lot of experience of using ultrasound and other diagnostic techniques on difficult patients
